LATEST NEWS FROM ENGLAND.

London, January 26.

It appears, by a Stockholm article in the German mail of yesterday, that arrack and wines are no longer prohibited in the Swedish ports; but that they remain subject to double duties, so long as existing imposts continue payable on Swedish produce in certain foreign countries. The accounts both from Sweden and Norway exhibit the unexampled fact, that down to the beginning of the present month, there has been neither frost nor snow in these remote and hitherto inhospitable regions—but that the primroses blossom, and the goosberry trees are green under the 59th degree of latitude. It is curious enough, that the mildness of the weather should be lamented as a hindrance to the ordinary communications and necessary business of the winter season; yet, in Sweden, it seems, that iron ore cannot be conveyed to the forges; and in Russia the usual merchandize hardly finds its way from the interior of the empire to the capital, owing to the want of snow.

A paragraph from Aix-la-Chapelle affirms, that important negociations are at this moment on foot between the courts of Berlin and of the Thuilleries. Couriers, heavily laden with despatches, are said to pass between the French and Prussian capitals twice in every week. No hint is thrown out as to the nature of the alleged negociations.

The proceedings of both houses of parliament last night, in relation to our internal policy, which is now, indeed, the only object of consideration, were interesting. Mr. Tierney had given notice of a motion for Tuesday, the 2d of February, for an enquiry into the state of public credit as connected with the issue of bank paper, the same day has now been fixed upon by his adversaries, for an enquiry into the affairs of the bank, as introductory to the further suspension of cash payments.

DECLARATION OF THE LONDON JURY;

[Presented to the court at the sessions house, Old Bailie—January, 1819.]

The foreman of the jury, (Mr. Jacob.)—"My lords, before leaving this box, I have a paper in my hand, which the jury wish to be read, and afterwards handed up to your lordship. I can assure your lordship that there is nothing offensive whatever in what it states." The foreman then read as follows. "We, the London jury, being on the eve of terminating our most painful duties, most respectfully wish to represent to your lordships, that the verdicts which we have given on the evidence which has been submitted to us, will, when reported to his majesty's council, be considered as only the decision of fallible men That we are convinced that all sanguinary punishments have not only a tendency to destroy those principles of humanity which it is our duty to cultivate, but that by their frequent occurrence they render the heart callous. One instance which has been brought before us, of a youth having picked a gentleman's pocket while the dreadful sentence of the law was recently carrying into effect on four unfortunate persons. We disdain all visionary ideas and principles. 'We live to improve, or we live in vain.' With these feelings and sentiments, we most earnestly request, that when those cases are reported, that you will urge this divine injunction—'I will have mercy and not sacrifice.'

(Signed) "Philip Jacob, foreman; Ebenezer Taylor, Thomas Clarke, Joseph Mather, T. D. Dunn, John Dimes, Thomas Lewis Styles, W. A. Atkinson, J. H. Sands, William Hughes, W. Blackman, John Ellis."

The foreman having concluded, retired with the rest of the jury, no observation whatever being made from the bench.

The following address of the grand jury of Middlesex was presented to the court on Saturday, January 16th, 1819, at the sessions house, Clerkenwell:—

'The grand jury of the county of Middlesex cannot separate without stating to the court, that the painful duty devolving on them has been rendered more acute by the bills brought before them on the part of the bank of England, against individuals charged with possessing or uttering forged notes, purporting to be the notes of that establishment. The grand jury are aware that a strong prejudice is abroad against the bank on this subject, and it is not their wish to increase it; it is, however, well known, that the notes of the bank of England are much too easily imitated and they cannot forbear expressing their decided opinion that such easy imitation might be prevented, and the frequency of the crime be consequently diminished. The grand jury beg also to express their hope, that a revision of the criminal code is in contemplation, and more particularly the law respecting forgery of bank notes; and, if they may with propriety, they would suggest some other mode of punishment than that at present adopted, such as perpetual hard labor and solitary imprisonment, which would be more dreadful in the eye of the offender than the chance of escaping capital punishment by the commutation of death for transportation. Signed on behalf of the grand jury, by their foreman.

CHARLES DERICK."

From the Edinburgh Courant of Dec. 31.

EXECUTION OF ROBERT JOHNSTON AND HORRIBLE OUTRAGE.

We have this day to record one of the most disgraceful scenes that ever took place in this city. We shall not at present enter on the question as to the precaution which might have been taken to insure the due execution of the awful sentence of the law, but simply detail the horrible transactions of yesterday, as far as they fell under our own observations.

The unfortunate man was convicted and sentenced to die for robbing Mr. Charles, candle maker; his two accomplices, Galloway and Lee, were sentenced, the former to fourteen, and the latter to seven year's transportation.

Day light yesterday, exhibited the new apparatus for the melancholy catastrophe. The place fixed upon was before the northmost window on the west side of the New North Church, a few yards from the High-street. Numerous groups of people continued to assemble about the fatal spot, to examine the dreadful preparation, and as the hour approached the croud was very great.

The unhappy criminal walked from the Lock-up-house to the scaffold, which he ascended with a firm step, at 20 minutes before three o'clock. After spending a quarter of an hour in prayer, he shook hands with the Rev. Gentlemen, who attended him, and mounted the platform with fortitude.

The executioner occupying a longer time in adjusting the rope than appeared to a great part of the spectators to be necessary, much disapprobation was expressed; the platform sunk about a minute before three. Unfortunately the rope was too long, or the height from the scaffold to the beam from which the sufferer was suspended, insufficient; in consequence of one or other of these causes, or both, his toes rested on the floor of the scaffold.—Just at that moment, a police-man in front, resisting the encroachment of the crowd, pushed one with his batten, who cried out "Murder!" It is probable those at a distance imagined the exclamation to be occasioned by the pitiable situation of Johnston, and therefore joined in it. Stones began to fly towards the scaffold, (of which unluckily the state of the ground afforded an ample supply) and the magistrates and their attendants were compelled to make a precipitate retreat. It was well for the executioner that he escaped at the same time, for at such a moment the consequences to him must have been fatal. The mob continued to throw stones, some of which struck the unhappy object of punishment, and others the church windows. At five minutes past three, a person very deliberately stepped from the crowd on the high street, leaped on the scaffold with a knife ready open, distinguishable from its brightness, (or, as we have been informed, a surgical instrument taken from the case on the instant,) cut the rope, and with seeming unconcern returned to the crowd. The body fell with the head to the front of the scaffold—a sight harrowing to the feelings of all possessed of the least sensibility.

Missiles still continued to fly, chiefly directed against the windows of the church, almost every pane of which were destroyed. One large stone struck the inanimate head of Johnston a heavy blow. A lame person, with a crutch, next climbed the scaffold, and then a general rush took place. The body was raised up, and the rope unloosed, with which the lame man exultingly decended; the cap was taken off and thrown among the crowd—at the same moment a cheer was given by those around the body, meaning, it is supposed, to announce that life remained, which was received by loud clapping. The coffin, light in its materials, was thrown among the crowd, and in less than a minute broken to atoms.—The body was then borne off in the direction of the Lawnmarket; Bailie Pattison, who was proceeding to the Castle, protected by a strong body of the Police, to obtain the aid of the military force, caused the bearers of the body to change their course, and they wheeled about and arrived almost unperceived on the opposite side of the street to the Police Office evidently without knowing what to do with it; here, on being attacked by the police officers, they dropped the body, divested of clothes from the waist upwards in the process of carrying (the most appalling sight of the whole,) which was then taken into the Police Office.

A detachment of the 38th regiment arrived soon after, followed by another headed by Major Graham, which were posted across the Lawn-Market at the well, and in a similar manner from the High Church to the Exchange.

Various reports were current about the state of the unfortunate man as to his reanimation; however, he was again carried to the drop, and at five minutes before four o' clock was launched into eternity. The military remained until the whole apparatus was removed, and we are happy to state no farther disturbance took place. The shops in the neighborhood were closed on the first disposition to riot, and many of them were not reopened that night.

We have not heard that any persons were seriously injured, but many inconsiderate women with children in their arms were thrown down and trampled on.

With feelings alive to the character of our metropolis, we do most sincerely regret the acts of which the above is but an imperfect account; but to prevent improper statements at a distance, we must declare that no appearance of preconcerted riot was visible—on the contrary, it arose we believe from the untoward circumstances of the instant. It will be long a matter of regret to the country, and to the inhabitants of Edinburgh in particular, that so foul a stain should thus be fixed upon us—but we trust effectual measures will be adopted on future occasions, to prevent a recurrence of scenes at once disgraceful, and repugnant to the feelings of humanity.

We sincerely hope, also, that the propriety of changing the hour and place of punishment will now be felt by those in whose hands lie the execution of the law, and that immediate measures will be taken to accomplish both these desirable objects.

Since writing the foregoing account, we regret to learn that the Rev. Mr. Porteous was severely hurt and carried to the royal Infirmary: also, that lieut. Bremner, of the police establishment, was seriously injured.

London, Jan. 26.

On Monday, the 11th Jan. a fine American vessel, the Kitty, of Norfolk, about 300 tons burthen, was driven on shore at Abereatte, near Fishguard—the cargo consisting of Tobacco, is strewed for miles, and the vessel a most complete wreck—the crew having deserted her, and taken all the papers out of her, it is not known where she was bound—the pieces of the vessel are collecting under the superintendance of three persons, one of whom lays claim as agent for the droits of the Admiralty, the other as agent to Lloyds, and the third as agent for the manorial rights. In this state the matter rests until something is settled—at all events they serve to keep each other honest, and combine to prevent pillering. The cargo lies in large heaps, and has the appearance of sea weed—being sodden with salt water, it is completely useless, to suppose it was in hogsheads, but not one is to be seen. The water within two hundred yards is quite discolored, and a great number of fish floating in, poisoned with tobacco juice.

Norfolk, March, 28.

To the politeness of Capt. Folger of the brig John & Adeline, and his correspondent at Bermuda, the Keeper of the reading Room is indebted for Bermuda, Antigua, Trinidad and Jamaica papers of the latest dates received in the United States.

The brig William, of Beverly. (Mas.) on her passage to Marc's, St. Domingo, was plundered the latter part of January, off Gonaives, by a piratical schnr manned with negroes. The brig's crew were made to go on board the schr and heave out her ballast, and then, with their capt. to stow the articles thus plundered in the hole of the pirate, the blacks all the time flogging them into a compliance, and threatening them with death if, after their empty vessel was restored to them, they went to St. Domingo!—upon which the William bore up for, and put into, St. Jago de Cuba.

The U. S. schnr Firebrand, Lt. Cunningham, put into Port-Royal, (Jam) the 31st Jan. to repair damages sustained in the severe gales in the gulph stream having carried away some of her spars. She had sailed from New-Orleans about two months previous, and had been cruising in quest of piratical vessels, and would soon put to sea again to cruize between St. Domingo and the Island of Cuba.

His Britannic majesty's brig Shearwater, Capt. Cox, was to have proceeded from Jamaica to Havana on the 3d of Feb. to afford protection to the vessels bound to that port, or to Batabano.

The epidemic, which had prevaided, and in many instances terminated so fatally at Tobago, had abated from the last accounts, but the Collector of the customs, W. Buller, esq. had fallen a victim to it.

Good Coffee sold at Kingston, (Jam.) the last Jan. at 8*l.* 0*s.* 5*d.* and triage at 5*l.* 4*s.* 2*d.* per cwt.

Translated for the New-York Daily Advertiser, from German papers.

The direction of the Bible Society of Frankfort on the Maine, have sent a letter to the Emperor Alexander, with the first annual report, to which the Emperor made the following reply in his own writing:

To the Direction of the Bible Society of the free city of Frankfort, on the Maine—

The letter from this Direction, accompanied by the account of the celebration of the first anniversary, was handed to me in due time. As the members of this respectable and salutary institution are desirous to commune with me concerning thir exertions and the happy result in the sacred cause of humanity, I take pleasure in acknowledging my thankfulness, and to express the sentiments which animate me.

The diffusion of the Book of the Divine word, among all nations of the earth, this new revelation of the invaluable grace of God the Saviour, towards the human family evidently aims at the completion of the sublime work of salvation. Happy he, who is instrumental in it; for he gathers fruit unto eternal life, that he who sows, and he who reaps, may rejoice together.

I do not merely say, that I have found this subject worthy of my attention: I say more; by this, as my most sacred duty, I am penetrated, because on it essentially depends the temporal and eternal felicity of those whom providence has confided to my care. The most high, in the clearest manner, works in this thing. And not in Europe only and in the whole extent of the Russian Empire is the name of Jesus Christ, our Saviour and Master, glorified, but it begins to be glorified even in the remotest parts and in all languages of the earth.

The Bible Society of the free city of Frankfort, on the Maine, has already distinguished itself by the ardor with which it contributes towards the dissemination of the word of eternal life. Its report is an undeniable proof of its zeal.

It is very pleasing to me to be able to declare my respect towards this society in general, and particularly to the members of the Direction. ALEXANDER.

From the Concord (N. H.) Gaz. March 12.

WARNING TO CANCER DOCTORS!

At a late sitting of the court at Portsmouth, a certain Dr. Evans of Candia, was sentenced to the state prison for 2 years. The story, we understand, is simply this. He undertook to remove a tumor from a lady's breast,—"no cure, no pay." The lady suffered several months torture from his caustick, and was dismissed as cured, with a large open ulcer and her constitution ruined. The doctor sued for his fee—contending it was a perfect cure. The demand being unjust, rendered it necessary for him to resort to dishonest means to support it. He swore roundly to every thing he tho't necessary to substantiate his claim—but unfortunately for the Doctor, he swore to too much—He was convicted of perjury and sentenced as above.

☞ Those needing the Doctor's services will call now at Concord, and what should recommend him to his numerous customers be will always be found at home.

It was a co-partner of the Doctor, as we are informed, that was fined a short time since three hundred dollars, with costs of court, for mal practice, in applying caustic to a lady's ankle by which the joint was destroyed.

It is a subject of congratulation that our courts of law begin to take cognizance of this species of crime—that a check is about to be put to a class of men that are pests of society, who are daily endangering the lives of the people, imposing their secret nostrums upon the ignorant and credulous, and are as ignorant of the nature of disease, and the use of suitable remedies, as the beasts they ride.

COMMUNICATED.

MR. THOMAS.

We observe, with pleasure, announced for this evening's entertainment, the celebrated comedy of "MAN AND WIFE," for the benefit of Mr. Thomas. This excellent play, the production of Samuel James Arnold, esq. a writer as famed for originality of wit, as for elegance and chastity of style, was represented with universal eclat on the London boards, in 1808—9, successively each night, to crowded audiences, during the latter part of the season.

It ran through five editions in the space of a few weeks, and was more respectably spoken of, and more favorably received, than any piece had been for many years. The dialogue is considered highly commendable for its purity both for meaning and style.—"It does not sparkle with bon mots—it is not grossly familiar—it is easy and elegant—frequently energetic, and encircled with just and pleasing imagery—nor is it devoid of wit, though 'tis completely free from the affectation of it—the characters are well delineated, and happily contrasted—the plot is conducted with judgment—the situations well imagined—many scenes highly comic—and others, though rich in the pathetic, yet not too much so to lack justification."

The Interlude presents a rich feast to the lovers of music, in a choice selection of songs; and the after piece of "WAYS AND MEANS," will prove a rich desert to the evening's entertainments

Mr. Thomas, in his sojournings amongst us, has uniformly conducted himself as a gentleman,—and we trust the patrons of the Drama will justly appreciate his worth. These remarks are purely disinterested—They proceed from a wish to see him amply remunerated by a full and respectable house; which, we have no doubt, it will be his endeavor to please. MELO.

We are requested to state that John Linton, esq. of Prince William, is a candidate for the senate, to represent the counties of Fairfax and Prince William, in the place of John Love, esq. who has vacated his seat Exchange Coffee-House, at Havana.

JAMES BRISS, the director of this important mercantile establishment in the great commercial town of the Havana, takes this method of informing the Supercargoes, Masters of vessels, and all other persons trading to the above port, that he has opened on the 5th February 1819, under the protection of Royal Tribunal Consulado, and the approbation of his own government, "The New and Elegant Exchange House," on a plan that would do honor to any of the large sea towns of the United States of America. It is intended for the accommodation of merchants, natives, and foreigners, and likewise for captains of vessels and strangers, arriving every day in commercial and agricultural pursuits.—The house is situated in an airy part of the town, No. 7, Calle del Objspo, opposite the southern wing of the Governors' Palace. The building is commodious, having four large rooms elegantly furnished: besides that of the sub-cribers there is one for the use of non-residents. They will find American, English and French newspapers, price currents, pamphlets, charts, and maps—lists of vessels arrived, those about to sail, and the time of their clearances, and other interesting matter for the commercial world. The proprietor therefore will be extremely happy to see masters of vessels, supercargoes, and passengers soon after their arrival.

In order to render this infant establishment more useful and interesting, the proprietor begs leave to request them to procure several newspapers of the places of their departure—and to report the news they may get on their passages; and at the same time requests them to call one hour before their departure sailing from the above port to procure the shipping list, price current, or other news of commercial nature, which the said James Briss, will be happy to furnish them with.

It is well to observe that there is a bar room for refreshments, but not billiard tables, or any other kind of amusements are allowed. March 9.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or
